At Rogue Valley Door we slice our own veneers and then meticulously grade them to ensure only the highest quality fiber is used in our wood doors. In the past, only a small percentage of this wood could make the grade and pass our quality inspection. With a fresh approach we knew we could positively impact the environment, save a precious dwindling resource and make use of the stock that had small blemishes and minor imperfections.

The result is Coarse Grain Fir doors, a new upcycled Rogue Valley Door product. We take those naturally occurring imperfections found in wood and create a unique treatment for these small blemishes and minor defects, resulting in a perfect match for distressed or weathered design. These doors are a perfect fit for your Cabin, Lodge, Mountain Retreat or anywhere you are trying to create a warm old meets new look.
